

FILED IN THE
U.S. DISTRICT COURT
EASTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON

Apr 14, 2023

SEAN F. MCAVOY, CLERK

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

EASTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON

KWIK LOK CORP., a Washington
Corporation,

Plaintiff/Counterclaim Defendant,

vs.

MATTHEWS INTERNATIONAL
CORP., D/B/A MATTHEWS
AUTOMATION SOLUTIONS, a
Pennsylvania Corporation,

Defendant/Counterclaim Plaintiff,

vs.

MATTHEW INTERNATIONAL
CORP., a Pennsylvania corporation,

Third-Party Plaintiff,

vs.

SOLARIS LASER, S.A., a Polish entity,

Third-Party Defendant.

No. 1:22-cv-03014-MKD

ORDER DENYING THIRD-PARTY
DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO DISMISS AND DENYING AS
MOOT THIRD-PARTY
DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER

ECF No. 30, 44

1 Before the Court are Third-Party Defendant Solaris Laser, S.A.'s ("Solaris")
2 Motion to Dismiss for Forum Non Conveniens, ECF No. 30, and Motion for 3 Protective Order, ECF No. 44. On March 29, 2023, the Court heard argument on the 4 motions. Mario Bianchi represented Plaintiff/Counterclaim Defendant Kwik Lok
5 Corporation ("Kwik Lok"). Michael Pest, Hari Kumar, and Kevin Allen represented
6 Defendant/Counterclaim Plaintiff Matthews International Corporation ("Matthews").
7 David Stearns represented Solaris. The Court has reviewed the parties' filings and 8 the record, has heard from the parties, and is fully informed. For the reasons stated 9 below, the Court denies Solaris' Motion to Dismiss, ECF No. 30, and its Motion for 10 Protective Order, ECF No. 44.

11 PROCEDURAL HISTORY

12 On February 1, 2022, Plaintiff Kwik Lok filed a complaint against Matthews, 13 alleging breach of express and implied warranties under the Washington Product
14 Liability Act and a violation of Washington's Unfair Business Practices Act. ECF
15 No. 1 at 7-10. Matthews answered and filed counterclaims against Kwik Lok on 16 March 29, 2022. See ECF No. 7. Kwik Lok answered the counterclaims. ECF No.
17 11. Matthews then amended its answer and counterclaims, ECF No. 20, and Kwik 18 Lok subsequently filed an answer to the amended counterclaims, ECF No. 21.

19 On April 12, 2022, Matthews filed a third-party complaint against Solaris, a 20 Polish company. ECF No. 9. Solaris was served through the Hague Convention.

1 See ECF No. 44 at 3; ECF No. 46 at 4. Solaris answered the thirty-party complaint
2 on October 13, 2022. ECF No. 25. In its answer, Solaris asserted as an affirmative
3 defense the alleged forum selection clause of the agreement that governs any disputes
4 between it and Matthews. ECF No. 25 at 6 ¶ 44.

5 Solaris subsequently filed a Motion to Dismiss for Forum Non Conveniens on 6 December 19, 2022, seeking dismissal of the third-party complaint. See ECF No. 30.
7 Solaris argues that the forum selection clause in the companies' Original Equipment
8 Manufacturing (OEM) Purchase Agreement¹ governs and thus should be dismissed 9 on forum non conveniens grounds. ECF No. 30 at 2, 4-7. Solaris reiterates its 10 contention in its Motion for Protection Order, arguing it "is only a party in this case
11 because [Matthews] ignored its contractual obligations by asserting third-party claims
12 in this Court, rather than in a Polish court as required by the equipment distribution 13 agreement between it and Solaris." ECF No. 44 at 2; see also ECF No. 30.

14
15 ¹ The OEM Agreement was filed. ECF No. 31 at 5-17. In Matthews' Third-Party 16 Complaint, it references a "First Amendment and Extension Agreement" which 17 was entered into on January 25, 2010. ECF No. 9 at 3 ¶ 8 n.1. No party appears to 18 contest that the OEM Agreement was terminated in 2019, well in advance of Kwik
19 Lok's filing of the third-party complaint, even with the agreed upon extension.
20 The parties have not provided this document to the Court.

1 Matthews responded to the motion to dismiss, ECF No. 36, and Kwik Lok joined,
2 ECF No. 38. Solaris subsequently replied. ECF No. 41. The motion hearing was 3 scheduled for February 28, 2023, but was rescheduled to March 29, 2023, due to 4 conflicts with the Court's schedule. See ECF No. 42.

5 After the Court rescheduled the hearing, Kwik Lok served upon Solaris
6 interrogatories. ECF No. 44 at 4 (“Kwik Lok served Solaris with the Requests on 7 February 24, 2023.”); ECF No. 45 at 2; see ECF No. 45 at 2; ECF No. 45-1 at 2-34.
8 Solaris sought a stay of the deadline set by Fed. R. Civ. P. 33(b)² with respect to 9 Kwik Lok's interrogatories until the Court rules on its motion to dismiss. See ECF
10 No. 44. Kwik Lok opposes Solaris' request, arguing it “issued on-point and narrowly 11 tailored discovery [requests] to Solaris for documents and information in its 12 possession” regarding the performance of the subject product, the basis for certain 13 certifications of the subject product, and the representations Solaris made to 14 Matthews concerning the subject product. ECF No. 46 at 2. Matthews joins Kwik 15 Lok's opposition to the motion. See ECF No. 48.

16
17
18
19 ² On March 27, 2023, the Court stayed the response deadline until further argument
20 could be made by the parties. ECF No. 50.

1 At the March 29 hearing, the Court granted in part Solaris' Motion for 2 Protection Order, ECF No. 44, in so far as the subject deadline was stayed until 3 further order from the Court. ECF No. 54.

4 MOTION TO DISMISS

5 Third-Party Defendant Solaris seeks dismissal of Matthews' Third-Party
6 Complaint on forum non conveniens grounds. See ECF No. 30. Specifically, 7 Solaris asserts that the forum selection clause in the OEM Agreement governs and 8 thereby requires Matthews to file its claims in Poland. ECF No. 30 at 2, 4-7.

9 A. Legal Standard

10 1. Doctrine of Forum Non Conveniens

11 “[T]he appropriate way to enforce a forum-selection clause pointing to a . . .
12 foreign forum is through the doctrine of forum non conveniens.” Atlantic Marine 13 Constr. Co. v. U.S. Dist. Court for the W. Dist. of Tex. (Atlantic Marine), 571 U.S.
14 49, 60 (2013). The doctrine of forum non conveniens permits a district court “to 15 decline to exercise jurisdiction in a case where litigation in a foreign forum would 16 be more convenient for the parties.” Lueck v. Sundstrand Corp., 236 F.3d 1137, 17 1142 (9th Cir. 2001). “A party moving to dismiss based on forum non conveniens
18 bears the burden of showing (1) that there is an adequate alternative forum, and (2)
19 that the balance of private and public interest factors favors dismissal.” Dole Food 20 Co., Inc. v. Watts, 303 F.3d 1104, 1118 (9th Cir. 2002) (citing Lueck, 236 F.3d at 1 1142–43). “[A] plaintiff’s choice of forum will not be disturbed unless the ‘private

2 interest’ and the ‘public interest’ factors strongly favor trial in a foreign country.”
3 Lueck, 236 F.3d at 1145 (quoting Gulf Oil Corp. v. Gilbert, 330 U.S. 501, 509 4 (1947)).

5 Generally, the decision to dismiss on grounds of forum non conveniens falls 6 within the Court’s discretion. Id. at 1143. “The calculus changes, however, when 7 the parties’ contract contains a valid forum-selection clause, which ‘represents the 8 parties’ agreement as to the most proper forum.’” Atlantic Marine, 571 U.S. at 63 9 (quoting Stewart Organization, Inc. v. Ricoh Corp., 487 U.S. 22, 31 (1988)). “If 10 an enforceable forum selection clause applies, the burden shifts to the plaintiff to 11 show that the public-interest factors ‘overwhelmingly disfavor’ dismissal.” Yan
12 Guo v. Kyani, Inc., 311 F. Supp. 3d 1130, 1139 (C.D. Cal. 2018) (quoting Atlantic 13 Marine, 571 U.S. at 67).

14 A valid forum selection clause is “a significant factor that figures centrally 15 in the . . . calculus.” Stewart Organization, Inc., 487 U.S. at 29. Yet, an applicable 16 forum selection clause is not always dispositive of the forum non conveniens
17 determination. Yan Guo, 311 F.Supp.3d at 1139. Accordingly, a valid forum 18 selection “clause should be ‘given controlling weight in all but the most 19 exceptional cases.’” Id. (emphasis added) (quoting Atlantic Marine, 571 U.S. at 20 63).

1 2. Presumption of Survival

2 In Nolde Bros. v. Loc. No. 358, Bakery & Confectionery Workers Union,
3 AFL-CIO, the Supreme Court found “strong reasons to conclude that the parties
4 did not intend their arbitration duties to terminate automatically with the contract.”
5 430 U.S. 243, 253 (1977). Additionally, the Supreme Court determined there
6 exists a rebuttable “presumption in favor of postexpiration arbitration of matters[.]”
7 Litton Fin. Printing Div. v. NLRB, 501 U.S. 190, 204 (1991). However, it noted 8 that its “conclusion was limited by the vital qualification that arbitration was of 9 matters and disputes arising out of the relation governed by contract.” Id. (citing 10 Nolde Bros., 243 U.S. at 255). Some district courts have expanded the 11 presumption the Supreme Court found to exist in Nolde Bros. to forum selection
12 clauses. See Gonzalez v. Carnival Corp., No. 21-CV-04682-JSW, 2021 WL
13 4844073, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 18, 2021) (quoting Marcotte v. Micros Sys., Inc., 14 No. 14-cv-01372-LB, 2014 WL 4477349, at *9 (N.D. Cal. Sept. 11, 2014)”).
15 However, the presumption can be “negated expressly or by clear implication.”
16 Nolde Bros., 243 U.S. at 255.

17 In Litton, the Supreme Court held that the plaintiff did not successfully 18 contradict the presumption. 501 U.S. at 205. Indeed, it characterized the 19 arbitration clause as “unlimited,” because “the parties agreed to arbitrate all 20 ‘[d]ifferences that may arise between the parties’ regarding the Agreement, violations thereof, or ‘the construction to be placed on any clause or clauses of the Agreement.’” Id. (alterations in original).

B. Discussion

The OEM Agreement’s forum selection clause states in pertinent part:

In all cases where Matthews initiates a lawsuit hereunder, the action shall be filed and resolved by Polish court adequate for Solaris’s localization. If the action is brought in Polish court, then Polish law shall apply.

ECF No. 31 at 17; ECF No. 36 at 5. Matthews asserts three arguments as to why the Court should not apply the provision in this matter. First, it contends the OEM’s Forum Selection Clause is inapplicable as Solaris terminated the agreement and the clause did not survive the termination. Second, it asserts that it did not “initiate” a lawsuit against Solaris. Finally, it argues that if the Court finds the clause applies, then the enforcement is unreasonable. See ECF No. 36.

1. The Forum Selection Clause’s Applicability

a. Choice of Law

The Court sits in diversity. ECF 1 at 2 ¶ 2.1; ECF No. 20 at 2 ¶ 2.1. Kwik Lok has brought suit against Matthews asserting claims under Washington law. See ECF No. 1. Kwik Lok did not contract with Solaris. Matthews contracted with Solaris, so Pennsylvania law may govern its indemnity claim. See ECF No. 31 at 17; ECF No. 36 at 5 (noting that “[i]f the action is brought in US court, then US law shall apply.”). Yet, no party has asserted which state’s law should apply to

1 this Court’s interpretation of the OEM Agreement.³ Because more than one state’s
2 laws are potentially applicable to the case at bar, the Court must apply
3 Washington’s choice of law rules. MKB Constructors v. Am. Zurich Ins. Co., 49 F.
4 Supp. 3d 814, 832 (W.D. Wash. 2014) (citing Klaxon Co. v. Stentor Elec. Mfg.
5 Co., 313 U.S. 487, 496 (1941) (“When the laws of more than one state potentially 6 apply, a federal district court sitting in diversity applies choice of law rules from 7 the forum state.”).

8 The Washington Supreme Court has stated, “[T]here must be an actual 9 conflict between the laws or interests of Washington and the laws or interests of 10 another state before Washington courts will engage in a conflict of laws analysis.”
11 Shanghai Com. Bank Ltd. v. Kung Da Chang, 404 P.3d 62, 65 (Wash. 2017)
12 (quoting Erwin v. Cotter Health Centers, 167 P.3d 1112, 1120 (Wash. 2007)).

13
14 ³ “There is no federal general common law.” Erie R. Co. v. Tompkins, 304 U.S.
15 64, 78 (1938). Accordingly, contractual interpretation is generally governed by 16 state law except in specific circumstances. See Read-Rite Corp. v. Burlington Air
17 Express, Ltd., 186 F.3d 1190, 1195 (9th Cir. 1999), as amended on denial of reh’g
18 and reh’g en banc (Sept. 27, 1999); Flores v. Am. Seafoods Co., 335 F.3d 904, 910
19 (9th Cir. 2003) (choice of law provision in contracts provided federal maritime law 20 would govern).

1 When “construing a written contract [in Washington], the basic principles require 2 that (1) the intent of the parties controls; (2) the court ascertains the intent from 3 reading the contract as a whole; and (3) a court will not read an ambiguity into a 4 contract that is otherwise clear and unambiguous.” Mayer v. Pierce Cnty. Med.
5 Bureau, Inc., 909 P.2d 1323, 1326 (Wash. Ct. App. 1995). Similar canons of 6 contract interpretation exist in Pennsylvania:

7 First, ‘the entire contract should be read as a whole . . . to give effect to 8 its true purpose.’ Pritchard v. Wick, 178 A.2d 725, 727 (Pa. 1962).
9 Second, a contract must be interpreted to give effect to all of its 10 provisions. Murphy v. Duquesne Univ. Of The Holy Ghost, 777 A.2d
11 418, 429 (Pa. 2001). Thus, our Court “will not interpret one provision 12 of a contract in a manner which results in another portion being annulled.” LJL Transp. v. Pilot Air Freight, 962 A.2d 639, 648 (Pa.
2009). Third, “a word used by the parties in one sense is to be interpreted as employed in the same sense throughout the writing in the absence of countervailing reasons,” such as thwarting the intent of the agreement. Maloney v. Glosser, 235 A.2d 607, 609 (Pa. 1967).

13 Com. ex rel. Kane v. UPMC, 129 A.3d 441, 463–64 (Pa. 2015) (some internal 14 citations expanded). Given the similarity of the states’ canons of contractual 15 interpretation, there is not a “real” conflict. See Shanghai Com. Bank Ltd., 404
16 P.3d at 65 (citing Erwin, 167 P.3d at 1120). Accordingly, under Washington law, 17 this Court should apply “the presumptive local law[.]” Id. (“[W]here laws or 18 interests of concerned states do not conflict, the situation presents a false conflict 19 and ‘the presumptive local law is applied.’ (alteration in original) (internal 20 quotation marks omitted)). The Court applies Washington law here.

1 b. Discussion

2 As an initial matter, the OEM Agreement expressly states: “Upon expiration 3 or termination of the Agreement, those paragraphs which by their own terms
4 survive shall continue to remain in full force five (5) years after expiration,
5 cancellation or termination.” ECF No. 31 at 11 (emphasis added); see ECF No. 36
6 at 9. Matthews argues that the forum selection clause does not apply to the present
7 action, because Solaris terminated the OEM Agreement approximately three years
8 prior to Kwik Lok filing its complaint and the forum selection clause did not 9 contain the requisite language for the clause to survive that termination. ECF No.
10 36 at 7-9. Solaris does not dispute that the OEM Agreement was terminated.
11 Instead, it argues that the forum selection clause survives the termination. See ECF
12 No. 4 at 3-5.

13 The OEM Agreement contains provisions which expressly include terms that 14 indicate the section is to survive the agreement’s termination. For example, 15 Section 7 includes:

16 Upon termination of this Agreement, Matthews shall promptly
17 deliver to Solaris all such data . . . During the term of this Agreement
18 and at all times thereafter, Solaris shall ensure that its employees, 19 agents and representatives shall hold, keep and treat as secret and 20 confidential all technical, financial, marketing, product development and any other information including the business affairs and dealings of Matthews disclosed to Solaris . . .

1 ECF No. 31 at 9-10 (emphasis added). Additionally, in Section 9 the agreement
2 contains a provision which states, “On termination of this Agreement, pursuant 3 to the terms of this Agreement, Matthews shall cease to be an authorized
4 distributor of Solaris,” but Matthews may offer and sell whatever products it
5 already has in its possession. ECF No. 31 at 12 (emphasis added). That same 6 section also states:

7 Solaris shall sell to Matthews for a period of not less than five (5) years
8 commencing on the termination of this Agreement, on the same
9 terms and conditions as offered by Solaris to any other customer
10 purchasing similar products in like or smaller quantities under similar 11 terms and conditions; any spare parts and/or related optional parts 12 relating to the Products which are requested of Matthews by 13 Matthews’s distributors or customers[.]

14 (emphasis added). Section 14 contains another provision referencing the contract’s 15 termination: “Solaris agrees to offer replacement parts for these products for a 16 minimum of five (5) years from the date of termination of the Agreement.”

17 ECF No. 31 at 14 (emphasis added). Conversely, the forum selection clause does 18 not contain such express language:

19 In all cases where Matthews initiates a lawsuit hereunder, the action
20 shall be filed and resolved by Polish court adequate for Solaris’s localization. If the action is brought in Polish court, then Polish law shall apply. In all cases where Solaris initiates a lawsuit hereunder, such action shall be filed and resolved in the US court adequate for Matthews’s localization. If the action is brought in US court, then US law shall apply. However, whether the action is brought in Poland or in the United States, neither party shall be entitled to special, consequential, punitive or liquidated damages. Alternatively, the parties only entitlement to recovery shall be limited to direct damages.

1 ECF No. 31 at 17.

2 As mentioned above, the Court must determine the parties' intent, which can 3 be determined by reading the contract as a whole. Mayer, 420, 909 P.2d at 1326.
4 Additionally, the Court may "not read an ambiguity into a contract that is 5 otherwise clear and unambiguous." Id. Solaris asks the Court to read the forum
6 selection clause in a vacuum. The canons of contractual interpretation reject this 7 analysis. The Court must consider the entire OEM Agreement as a whole. This 8 includes the survival clause.

9 The survival clause in the OEM Agreement is not unlimited like the 10 arbitration clause in Litton. Indeed, the survival clause of the OEM Agreement is 11 clear: only the sections which expressly include terms within itself indicating it is 12 to survive the agreement's termination will be applicable to later actions between 13 Matthews and Solaris. Numerous sections contain such language as detailed 14 above. The forum selection clause does not. If Matthews and Solaris wanted the 15 forum selection clause to survive the agreement's termination, they could have 16 expressly included similar language within the forum selection clause itself like 17 they did in other provisions. For example, the parties could easily have stated:
18 "Upon termination of this agreement, the forum selection clause shall survive." Cf.
19 Nolde Bros., 243 U.S. at 255 ("the parties' failure to exclude from arbitrability 20 contract disputes arising after termination . . . affords a basis for concluding that

1 they intended to arbitrate all grievances arising out of the contractual 2 relationship”).

3 When the Court considers the OEM Agreement as a whole, the Court finds 4 the parties intended for the forum selection clause to terminate at the time the 5 agreement was terminated. To do otherwise would create an ambiguity given the 6 agreement’s clear and unambiguous provision: “Upon expiration or termination of 7 the Agreement, those paragraphs which by their own terms survive shall continue 8 to remain in full force five (5) years after expiration, cancellation or termination.”
9 ECF No. 31 at 11; see ECF No. 36 at 9. Because the forum selection clause’s own 10 terms do not provide for the clause to survive a termination of the contract, it is not 11 applicable to this matter. The presumption that the forum selection clause survived 12 the termination of the agreement has been rebutted. Thus, this matter does not 13 involve a valid forum selection clause, so the Court declines to invoke the doctrine 14 of forum non conveniens and dismiss this matter on those grounds.

15 2. Alternative Forum and Analyzation of Factors

16 Because this matter does not involve a valid forum selection clause, the 17 Court turns to whether Solaris has shown “that there is an adequate alternative 18 forum, and . . . the balance of private and public interest factors favors dismissal.”
19 Dole Food Co., 303 F.3d at 1118. Solaris must demonstrate that the private 20 interest and public interest factors strongly favor trial in Poland given the doctrine

1 is an “exceptional tool to be [used] sparingly.” Ravelo Monegro v. Rosa, 211 F.3d
2 509, 514 (9th Cir. 2000). Indeed, Solaris must make “a clear showing of facts 3 which establish such oppression and vexation of a defendant as to be out of 4 proportion to plaintiff’s convenience, which may be shown to be slight or 5 nonexistent.” Id.

6 a. Adequate Forum

7 The Ninth Circuit has stated, “[A]n alternative forum ordinarily exists when 8 the defendant is amenable to service of process in the foreign forum.” Lueck, 236
9 F.3d at 1137 (citing Piper Aircraft Co. v. Reyno, 454 U.S. 235, 254 n.22). Solaris
10 is clearly amenable to service of process in Poland. See id. at 1143 (“This 11 threshold test is met here because Defendants have indicated that they are 12 amenable to service of process in New Zealand.”); see generally ECF No. 52
13 (Solaris noting Kwik Lok’s ability to obtain discovery from it through the Hague 14 Evidence Convention).

15 b. Analysis of Factors

16 While Poland, the alternative foreign forum, exists, Solaris must also show 17 the alternative forum “provides [Matthews] with some remedy for [its] wrong in 18 order for the alternative forum to be adequate.” See Lueck, 236 F.3d at 1143.
19 Solaris has not made such a showing, because it did not independently address the 20 factors. Instead, its argument relied on asserting the forum selection clause was

1 valid, see ECF No. 30, and opposing Matthews’ analysis of the factors, see ECF
2 No. 41. Solaris has failed to make “a clear showing of facts which establish such 3 oppression and vexation of a defendant as to be out of proportion to plaintiff’s
4 convenience, which may be shown to be slight or nonexistent.” See Ravelo
5 Monegro, 211 F.3d at 514. Thus, the Court declines to invoke the doctrine of 6 forum non conveniens.

7 C. Conclusion

8 The forum selection clause did not survive the termination of the OEM
9 Agreement, thus Solaris’ argument predicated on the clause’s terms is without 10 merit. Solaris has failed to meet its burden. Accordingly, the Court declines to 11 invoke the doctrine of forum non conveniens. The Court denies Solaris’ Motion to 12 Dismiss, ECF No. 30.

13 MOTION FOR PROTECTIVE ORDER

14 Solaris’s motion sought a protective order to be issued under Fed. R. Civ. P.
15 26(c) to delay discovery in this matter given the case’s procedural posture. See ECF 16 No. 44. The Court granted Solaris’ Motion for Protective Order in part, in so far as 17 delaying the subject deadline until further order from this Court. Because the Court
18 denies Solaris’ Motion to Dismiss, the motion is moot. Accordingly, the Court orders
19 Solaris to respond to Kwik Lok’s discovery requests within two weeks of this Order’s 20 issuance.

1 Accordingly, IT IS ORDERED:

2 1. Solaris' Motion to Dismiss, ECF No. 30, is DENIED.

3 2. Solaris' Motion to Stay Discovery, ECF No. 44, is DENIED as moot.

4 a. Solaris shall respond to Kwik Lok's discovery requests no later than

5 April 28, 2023. This Order does not modify the pretrial deadlines

6 detailed in the Court's Amended Bench Trial Scheduling Order, ECF

7 No. 33.

8 IT IS SO ORDERED. The District Court Executive is directed to file this 9 order and provide copies to the parties.

10 DATED April 14, 2023.

11 s/Mary K. Dimke

12 MARY K. DIMKE

13 UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE
14
15
16
17
18
19 20